Kym Brown

Kym currently works as an Education Consultant with his company "Futurity Learning". He has worked as a Principal, Teacher, Curriculum Consultant and Writer both here in the Department and overseas. He brings a passion for learning and the importance of creating "powerful learners", as well as an outstanding breadth of knowledge about a broad range of learning research to any session he runs.

Coaching for Professional Learning

Coaching as a strategy for enabling teachers to reflect deeply on their practice and identify and plan appropriate changes has the potential to drive collaboration and innovation at a range of levels. This session will provide participants with a deeper understanding of what it means to coach and be coached in an educational context. It will link the process of coaching to a view of change based upon understandings from cognitive neuroscience and opportunities will be provided to explore and practice the essential skills of coaching in a personalised context. In particular, participants will consider ways of using coaching to effectively improve teamwork and develop an empowering approach to performance development.
